10 Sleek, black and with ultra-modern looks, the ICD hood boasts a number of green credentials too. Interactive graphics help select the most efficient operational mode for each type of cooking. Using low-consumption LEDs to disperse the light, this is the ultimate in contemporary eco-design. Max. extraction rate 480m³/h, noise level from 45 to 51dB(A). 01252 251 111 | www.ajca.com

11 The Butterfly uses innovative touch controls to open the hood and increase the extraction area. Choose from black or white glass to suit your wall-mounted or island model. Max. extraction power 800m³/h, max. noise level 61dB(A). From £1,636. 01797 226 821 | www.falmec.co.uk

12 Miele's colour-changing Lumen Hood uses LED lighting on the glass-edge to create a colourful installation that can be set to suit your mood. Stick to one colour or set to cycle through various hues. The extractor automatically activates once the hobs are in use. Max. extraction rate 660m³/h, max. noise level 71dB(A). From £1,500. 0242 345 8995 | www.miele.co.uk

Cooker hood motors have varying maximum extraction rates, so make sure that you select a design that can cope with the extraction needs of your size of kitchen

13 Faber's Catalpa has a 24-hour function for continuous air renewal that allows you to programme when the extractor is switched off. Remote-control operation. Available in glass or stainless steel. Max. extraction rate 500m³/h, max. noise level 62dB(A). From £1,390. 0113 201 2360 | www.airuno.co.uk

14 The simple design of the Skin extractor incorporates a large filtering surface, which is stylish, effective and easy to clean. The functions are activated by rotating controls similar to those found on old radio equipment. Extraction rate 600m³/h, noise level from 67 to

80dB(A). Prices on request. 01252 261 111 | www.elica.com

15 Inspired by an 'all that jazz' theme, Weatin's Piano hood is an original statement piece that will provide a talking point in any kitchen. It was designed to highlight some of the possibilities that the company offers in the way of bespoke extraction. Piano, made using laser-cutting technology, can be linked to an external fan to completely remove extraction noise from the kitchen. Max. extraction rate 1,000m³/h, max. noise level 55dB(A). Prices on request. 01484 621 565 | www.veat.it.co.uk
