Talenti introduces its latest collection – Casilda with new finishes and colours

The Casilda collection from Talenti, designed by Ramon Esteve, returns in a new version confirming the vision of a brand that combines design and practicality, elegance and simplicity for an unlimited outdoor. Born from the idea of breaking down the classic sofa without sacrificing a contemporary style, the first extra-soft among the outdoor sofas, dresses in teal colour with lava stone finishes, emphasizing the sophisticated minimalism of the seat, but giving a breath of freshness and chromatic relevance.

Talenti is an Umbrian company specialized in the design and manufacture of outdoor furniture that combines elegance, functionality and quality. The Talenti collections, designed by international designers, such as ps+a Palomba Serafini Associati, Ramón Esteve, Marco Acerbis, Jean Philippe Nuel, Christophe Pillet and Carlo Colombo offer products for dining and living characterized by a strong reference to the indoor world, suitable for both contract and residential projects. The company has shown over the years an increasing attention to the world of design and today it offers, with its collections, products that can satisfy not only the most classic tastes, but also the most contemporary ones.

The structure of the armchairs and sofa, refined and light, highlights the upholstered elements, giving a subtle industrial character that in this version is emphasized. The rigid geometry of the powder-coated steel frame and fabric straps contrasts with the large soft cushions that ensure an incredibly comfortable seat. The strips that make up the armrests of the living and dining seats, meet every need thanks to the wide range of materials among which you can choose: Accoya wood in double iroko and sassafras colour, travertine, also in double titanium and silver finish, and lava stone, ceramic glass in the elegant shade of green-fog, whose peculiarity lies in the workmanship totally artisan, which is responsible for the characteristic crackle effect.

The tables, dining and coffee table, are characterized by top in strips of accoya wood alternating with travertine elements, according to the shade of the steel structure. New this year is the dining tabletop totally composed of lava stone slats, for a modern style that blends with the processing of ceramics typical of the Italian tradition.
